Same for a few of the other movies in this file.Q: Java: Writing int array to file - method signature needed? I'm trying to write out a certain number of ints from an array to a file using int[] b (in this case, it's just the first three elements in the array, [0, 1, 2].) I'm getting the error Cannot write int[3] to file Which I assume is because the method signature needs to be int[] b=new int[3]. However, I would prefer the method to accept the array by reference and have the elements written to the file. Here's my code (note that I'm trying to shorten it somewhat to fit on a StackOverflow answer): public static void main(String[] args) throws IOException { File b=new File("b"); if (!b.exists()) { if (!b.createNewFile()) { System.out.println("Could not create file!"); return; } } FileWriter fw=new FileWriter(b); int[] a=new int[]{1,2,3}; try { for (int i=0; i
